

Personal record

Hepatitis B

Please keep this record and take it with you when you visit your lead maternity carer, doctor or nurse.
Your blood test shows that you are hepatitis B positive.

To protect your baby from hepatitis B, your baby needs to have at:		Date given:
Birth:	Hepatitis B vaccine and hepatitis B immunoglobulin
6 weeks of age:	Hepatitis B vaccine with other immunisations
3 months of age:	Hepatitis B vaccine with other immunisations
5 months of age:	Hepatitis B vaccine with other immunisations
		Date:
9 months of age:	A blood test to check if they are protected from the hepatitis B virus.

If you change your lead maternity carer or visit another doctor or nurse, please show them this card.

A record of all the immunisations given to your baby is kept by your doctor, recorded on the National Immunisation Register, and is written in your baby's Well Child Tamariki Ora My Health Book. Please take this book with you for each immunisation visit.
